

Robinson Enock – 1881 Census.

When the 1881 census was undertaken, Robinson Enock was living with the Maddocks family on Avenue Road (now known as The Avenue), but where was this house located?

When comparing the 1881 census to the 1891 census, there are two common entries, James Mill (or Mee) and Henry Mackenzie. The 1891 census details house names.

1881 census.

Number	Number of Schedule	Name of house	Occupant
1	46	Avenue Road	James Mill (or Mee)
2	47	Avenue Road	Henry Mackenzie
3	48	Avenue Road	Stephen B Jones
4	49	Avenue Road	Matthew Berwick
5		UNINHABITED
6		UNINHABITED
7	50	Avenue Road	William Jones Vaughan
8	51	Avenue Road	Samuel Maddocks (Robinson Enock)

1891 census.

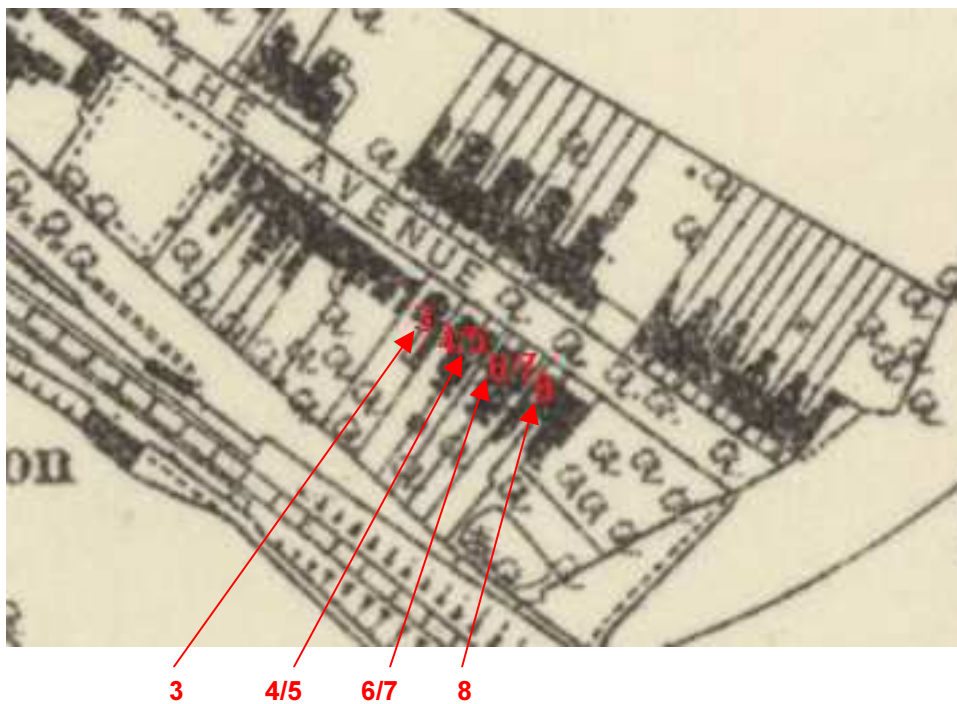

Number	Number of Schedule	Name of house	Occupant
1	70	Normanton House	James Mill (or Mee)
2	71	Baskerville House	Henry Mackenzie
3	72	Mansden	Edgar Todd
4	73	The Avenue House	Rhoda Broomhead
5		UNINHABITED
6	75	No name	Reginald Dorsett
7		UNINHABITED
8	77	Westwood House	Robert Legg
9		UNINHABITED
10	79	Lizcot?	Clara Dorsett
11	80	No name	Frederick Phillips

By comparing entries, we can see that the Maddocks house was called Westwood House. Baskerville House still retains its name plaque. If we take the information provided by the census, it should be possible to work out the location of the Maddocks residence.

The houses that appear to the right of number 5 are modern houses. The 1887 Ordnance Survey shows that entry number 8 was located opposite what is now Oxford House.
